About this Education Seminar

The Power of Long Suits by Steve Geddes Suitable for developing/refresher

Steve will introduce the topic then work through eight hands. At the end of the session, Steve will summarise the lesson, reinforcing the key takeaways.

One of the biggest sources of tricks you will utilise over the years as a bridge player are your long suits. This series of workshops is aimed at current or recently graduated Supervised players or players who find themselves constantly making one or two tricks less than the field! The hands are specially created to focus Declarer's attention on this important aspect of card play.

You don't need to have a partner. All are welcome.
